Introduction

Swift Rider is a plain girl from Amity but after a strange aptitude test result, Swift is no longer so plain. She decides to travel but the residents are all against what she is? Or are they?

Chapter 1

I sit under the tree in my garden alone. The grass is usually soft under my feet but today, it feels like a bed of knives and my pale red dress usually feels comfortable but today it is like a vice grip. Today is the day of our altitude test. Today we find out where we belong in the world. Will I get Amity? Will I be destined to stay in the safety of my own birth faction? Or will I be destined for another fate? Am I brave, intelligent, kind, honest or selfless? This test will have the answer. But will I listen to it?

"Swift, you have to come back in now!" My little sister Rose is standing in front of the door. She is smiling comfortingly. It helps. Rose is such a sweet, small child. Unlike me, she turned out perfectly beautiful: light blonde hair, sapphire eyes, glowing smile.....I have dark hair and merciless, fearsome yellowish green eyes. I am Swift Rider. Merciless FULL STOP.
