

Is this for real?...

from Carasila Ana-Maria

online:

<https://www.allthetests.com/fan-fiction/games/five-nights-at-fred>

powered by www.allthetests.com

Introduction

I get a job at this new horror attraction 'Fazbear's Fright'.The first night is a breeze, but in the second one someone appears at my window and it turns out that it doesn't want to hurt me...but...why?...

Chapter 1

I was heading work to guard the horror attraction. I took the security guard night shift. At first I was disappointed, but what could possibly go wrong? I just have to sit in a chair, check some cameras and the systems. Not hard. I'm sure it'll be a breeze. . . hopefully. . .

I confidently entered the building heading to the office. I sat down on the black chair and put my purse on the ground near my legs. I started checking the cameras and stuff. I was bored as hell. It was my second night so I already knew what to do, that's why it was boring. The first night was more interesting because I had no idea what to do and I mostly had to learn how to do stuff around there. I got used to it actually and it's not hard at all. . .

-Le Time skip-

3:00am. . . more two hours and I can go home. I can't wait to leave, but something caught my attention. . . A man with long, messy hair of a dirty blonde, dressed in clothes as messed up as his hair and almost entirely bandaged was peeking out the door.

'Ah, who are you?' I said horrified

'Aren't you a pretty little face. . . I'm guessing you're the new night watch, eh?' he asked

'Y-Yeah. . . what's your name?' I asked

'My name is Springtrap. . . can I get in, if you don't mind, of course. . . 'he said grinning

'I-I. . . sure. . . 'I said barely talking

'You're lucky I like you doll, or else I wouldn't have been so friendly. . . 'he said

I blushed a little, but I covered my face with my hair to hide this. . . wait. . . did he just call me. . . doll! Oh gosh. . . it's gonna be an interesting job after all. . .