Introduction

This book is about someone named Elijah. A girl that goes to his school has a crush on him but is too afraid to tell him. She worries he might not like her back.

Chapter 1

CiCi's POV

I woke up from my alarm. Today is the day I'm going to my new school. I got dressed in my basketball shorts and a t-shirt. I put a black and gray hoodie over it with my black and gray snapback. I put on my black and white Nikes then ran downstairs.

I grabbed an apple and my book bag. Once I was done with the apple I threw away the core in the trash. "BY MUM! IM ON MY WAY TO SCHOOL!" I yelled. I heard her open the garage and she yelled have a good day.

I rushed out walking to school. I made it just in time. Everyone was just getting off the buses. I walked in the crowd and got a lot of stares. I shrugged and kept walking. When I got in a girl named Jennifer walked up to me.

"Hi. I'm Jennifer. And you are?" She said shaking my hand. "CiCi. That's my nickname. I never let anyone call me by my first name." I said. She nodded and helped me get my things I need. I looked up and saw a boy.

I was instantly dazed. He is so hot. I thought. He looked at me and caught me staring. He smiled and I quickly looked away. I looked up again and saw he was looking at me again. He just laughed and turned around.
