

Fairy Tail Love Mix #2

from CreepyCookie

online:

<https://www.allthetests.com/fan-fiction/cartoons-mangas-animes>

powered by www.allthetests.com

Introduction

So this story is partly true if you are up to date with the Fairy Tail manga! But if you are not then this is going to be a ride of spoilers! For those people who don't want me to run the story for them then I'd stop reading this and don't read the story ??!

You still there?... Oh guessing you want the spoilers then xD well so far they got the guild back together but in doing so there's a price to pay and a war begins between Fairy Tail and, (You can find out who) Natsu straight after battling his brother (Guess what? You can find out who that is as well!) Collapses and get taken to Lucy and the doc and others by happy. (The manga has stopped right now so this is what could happen) trust me things are gonna get juicy! ?????

Chapter 1

I sat there. Staring at his motionless body rapped in blankets on the rock hard floor. Gray and Juvia sat beside me holding back tears. Even gray.. Me? I wasn't crying, not one bit.. I was angry! Whoever did this to him will pay!

I could feel the anger boil inside me and I could tell it's going to be a rough time. Everyone was injured in some way but we didn't care, right now our biggest problem was Natsu. We decided to camp in a small 3 room windowless home, no decorations or heating and especially no soft carpet and beds.

We spent what must of been hours watching the doc examine Natsu. Who was still motionless. With what we had (which wasn't much) we had no clue what it could be. For all we knew it could be something inside him... which we wouldn't able to help.

Every time I thought of something bad I would burst into tears and happy would try to calm me down again. It was so painful to watch the once ecstatic boy be so.. Still... It was as if he wasn't breathing most of the time. Although I made sure he was by checking every minute. Yes. EVERY minute. And I was determined to not miss even one second off of a minute. This would have to be the saddest I've Beverly been... Sadder then when I lost mum..

I took a deep breath, keeping my tears back. I would have never thought I'd lose someone like Natsu on this battle field.

I would often pace around the room, back and forth, back and forth until I got dizzy or Gray told me to stop pacing around and to sit down.

I hadn't slept in two days since Natsu fell 'asleep.' although that's what I call it... as I don't want to face reality.

"Get some sleep Luce" Gray Wispered as he sat down beside me against the stone cold wall behind us.

Tears filled my eyes with ever thought that popped into my head.

"Natsu would say that... Gray.. Natsu will wake up won't he?.."

I peered up at gray who's eyes were almost on their breaking point.

"Yea.. He will... I promise.." He looked down at me again "You really care for him don't you? You love him don't you?"

My eyes widened with his words... I love Natsu...

"When Natsu wakes up, you should tell him..."

I nodded and shortly after fell asleep.. What happened after during that night is a mystery but all I cared about was that Natsu was still breathing when my eyes met dawn light.

"Another day... Another challenge.. Another friend... Another tear... A new light."

Chapter 2

As my eyes met dawn light I reached my arms out and was straight away hit with the reality.

"Huh?".. I looked around Natsu was nowhere to be seen..

A hand reached and covered my mouth to stop me from squirming around and screaming..

"Shh it's okay calm down we just moved him to the other room."

It was gray, my heart beat calmed back down to its original pace.

"Okay.." I took a deep breath and got up off the floor.

I'd gotten used to waking up on cold hard floor instead of a warm cozy bed.

"I think... I'll go get some food." I whispered as I got up.

Gray nodded and as I quietly got my jacket on and exited through the back door.

I knew there was a market not too far away so I decided to head in its direction. I have to admit it was proved a bit difficult as I didn't have a map but I was determined to find us some food. We put all our money together and figured we had enough money to survive out here for a while so for now we didn't worry.

As I reached my destination I took a breather and headed into the center of the market. I was told that they had a couple sales for food but I would only find the sales at the center of the market place.

"Hmm 1 for Gray 1 for Juvia 2 for the doc as I do have to thank her for her work and 2 for me and happy.. That's 6.. I'll get one more for Natsu as well.. So 7.. Hmm, Excuse me!"

"Yes ma'am" exclaimed the shop keeper.

"I'll take 7 water based noodle packs please."

"As you wish" The shop's keeper smiled at me as he handed me the food.

Right, I better head home and see if anyone else is awake yet. My eyes raze met with the sunrise that seemed like just a couple miles away.

"Beautiful." I thought to myself I'll have to show Natsu this sometime..

Chapter 3

I closed the gate behind me as I reached the small steps up to the door.

"Home already Lucy?" Juvia exclaimed as she pulled me into her arms.

I giggled shortly after her remark.

"What? Did you not miss me?"

"Oh course we missed you!" Gray exclaimed as he leaned on Juvia's shoulder.

"Now why don't you let her in Juvia she's probably freezing out there you know." Gray announced as he fled the doorway and head for the doc room. Guessing to wake her up or to tell her I'm home.

"Oh dear sorry there Lucy I've been all mixed up with thoughts ever since Natsu fell asleep.

"I took a deep breath and passed the comment by as I placed the food on the side of the counter."

"Say... Where's happy?..." I asked as I peered around the room at Juvia.

"H-He's in Natsu's room.."

I was confused why she stuttered until I entered Natsu's room.

Beside Natsu's body was a heart broken happy.

"He hadn't w-oken up in a week now..." Happy whispered as he wiped away tears that were falling down his face.

I felt so horrible.. Natsu if technically happy's dad.. And I remember what I felt like to lose my parents... He is to little so have to deal with this, I don't think he even realizes what's happening, I think he's just set his mind on the fact that Natsu's no going to wake up,

It hurt just to think about that so I wiped the thought out of my mind and sat beside happy.

Chapter 4

I sat there beside happy, just watching Natsu and his ever breath.

It almost seemed stalkerish but all we didn't care. by now we were both crying. Everything had just caught up.. Caught up and fallen face flat into reality.

I would often look down at happy who was still half my height even when I'm sitting down. He was small enough to be a newborn baby.

I picked happy up and held his chin up so his eyes were set on mine.

"Look at you, you're a mess, I'm sure Natsu doesn't want to see a mess when he wakes up." I whispered as he wiped his dry tears away.

"Natsu is fine, he's just tired" I made the happiest face I could and to my surprise it worked.

"Luce.. You would make an amazing mother"

Happy's words hit me by surprise and brightened up my face but before I had time to ask what he meant, he had fallen fast asleep.

I looked down at happy's soundless body then to Natsu's flicking between the both of them.

"There're both drama queens" I rolled my eyes giggled then lay happy down in the room next to Natsu's.

"Happy's asleep" I whispered to Juvia and gray as we all sat down around an ice table gray made.

"These noodles aren't half bad" Juvia exclaimed as she took the biggest mouth full I'd ever seen. To be honest I wasn't surprised.. None of us have eaten in a while.

"What next?.." I asked as I peered up at the doc.

"I couldn't find any symptoms or anything out of the ordinary..

But only God knows what's going on inside that poor boys mind right now."

I turned around and stared at Natsu's room door for a while.

"Thank y-you.. Thank you for keeping him alive.." I whispered as I got up and went back to my room for bed.

Chapter 5

Natsu's Mind: "where am I?"

I screamed as I looked around the blank white emptiness.

"There's no point in screaming... No one will hear you.." Exclaimed Dragneel.

"D-DRAGNEELL!" (Dragneel died saving Natsu earlier in the manga)

I ran and ran getting to what seemed like no closer to Dragneel.

"Natsu I hate to tell you this but it's not really me, I'm just a figure of your imagination,.. So please calm down.."

I stopped in my tracks and hit the ground in a rage.

"O-Of course it isn't.. What are you doing here anyways.."

"I've come to explain what's happening to you right now.. I won't help anyone fix you but you can at least understand your origin a bit more.."

I peered up the great dragon and nodded as I sat down to listen.

"Natsu... You're dying.." The dragon said with guilt in his eyes.

My heart took a hit.. I was dying.. I never wanted to face it but, it's true and I knew it..

Tears fell from my eyes just from the thought.. But the hint that hurt the most was knowing I would not be able to tell Luce how I felt..

Chapter 6

Back to Lucy's point of view: I woke up with no sunlight this time.. It wasn't dawn yet, there was just enough light to know where I was going. I decided to head into Natsu's room to check up on him. I grabbed a quick snack from the 'kitchen' and head for his room.

"It's really quite without you, you know Natsu," I whispered as I sat down beside him in his small cramped room.

I knew that he probably wouldn't be able to hear me but it still felt resecuring to talk to him.

As I place my hand on his neck to check for a pulse, something seemed different..

"Natsu's..... c-cold.. No N-NO! No no no NATSU's COLD! Someone help him!" Whispers soon turned into screams, my heart rate was going way to fast that..

"NATSU'S COLLDD! HE'S CCoollll-dd..."

I collapsed in what seems like a blink of an eye.

My heart hurt.. And so did my voice and my back after hitting the wall behind me as I fell..

All I heard were whispers from people around me. Probably the doc and gray. Probably not Juvia as she is a very heavy sleeper.

It was weird, from what I heard everyone one was so calm.. I couldn't hear any screams, shouts, nothing but whispers..

Maybe they didn't want to stress me out even more...

Chapter 7

I don't remember much after that because everything went over in a flash but I do remember waking up and getting a big telling off from the doc for ruining her 'beauty sleep'. I did apologize, but then I laughed my head off shortly after.

I was close to collapsing when I woke up because I couldn't find Natsu in his room, but Gray quickly found me and explained that they moved Natsu to the docs room so they could check up on him more.

I must have said sorry more than a million times in that one morning for causing such a stir. To make up I put Happy back to bed, sometimes it was okay and easy, but most of the time it was hard as he would start crying again.

"Natsu's back to normal" Gray whispered in my ear as I put Happy back to bed.

I smiled and knowing he was back to normal temperature calmed me down.

"I think I'll head to the library in the market today. I really want to catch up on the research I've missed."

"Great idea, it will give the doc some more space to do her work and to examine Natsu." Gray yawned as he continued

"See if you can find something on ice magic for me please."

I nodded as I got the money needed for the books and I headed out, this time through the front door.

It was definitely a windy morning, one of the windiest of all the time we've been here. Which was now about a week and a half.

I just hoped it would be over soon...

Chapter 8

"Hmm... Where will I find ice magic book?.. G.. h.. I! Ice.. Magic!

Perfect? I found gray's book now for mine," I thought to myself as I wondered around for the Dragon books.

"Dragon history and mysteries of the ages? Hmm interesting... I think ill read this one!"

I sat down in an arm chair in the corner of the bookshelves with the book open in my hands. Most of it I'd Heard of before like how to research dragons and stuff but there was one bit that intireged me the most..

It said that in the past dragons have bonded their souls to their 'Human Children' to stop them from in future turning into a dragon.

I knew that but what I didn't know came next...

Once they do so a seed is created inside of them called the dragon seed.. And this is the same for any other type of soul bonding or resurrection...

If there is more than one seed in a person their seeds with fight to be the only one left, when the human has hit their 'prime age' which is different for everyone. In the process... Killing the human in the process....

"but.. Natsu's has a dragon seed..., and the .. E.N.D seed as he was resurrected.. So.. That's what's wrong with Natsu!"

After realizing my situation I closed the book and charged out the library (right after paying for the books of course.)

What will happen to Natsu?... Will he survive?...

Chapter 9

I slammed the door open not caring if anyone was asleep.

"I know what's wrong with Natsu!" I screamed as I entered.
Everyone came running as I began to explain the situation,..
'We don't have long then..' Explained the doctor..

"I know I hospital a couple miles away that can do shrink surgeries and magic healing!" Gray exclaimed as he pointed west of our current position.

"That's great but we don't have long enough to walk miles."
Replied the doctor in slight disappointment.

"No, not by walking but I'm sure Virgo can get you there no problem!"

Everyone looked at me with Eger eyes. I did it.. I know how to fix Natsu..

I summoned Virgo as gray made a idpce platform for Virgo to carry us on.

"How fast can you go Virgo?" I asked as if I was pleading
"As fast as princess would like me to" She replied
"I need you to go as fast as possible" a tear fell from my eyes.

As I was about to get on, the doc stopped me..
"No, I don't think you will be able to handle it Lucy.."

I looked at the doc, knowing she was right.. My eyes filled with tears as I nodded. I would just slow them down.

"Juvia will stay with you! So you won't be alone and so with happy."

"Stay safe Gray-Sama!" Juvia shouted at Virgo carried them on gray's ice platform out into the sunset.

"It's a fairy tale, Live it to its fullest"

Chapter 10

After they left the rooms were filled with silence. We sat around a fire we made with some stick we found.

I kept thinking about what I'd say to Natsu if he makes it..
What gray told me to say to him..

"Lucy please calm down, it's bad for your health," Julia said with a plead in her voice.

"How can I? Natsu might die!"

My voice may have raised a bit too high, guilt filled my mind, it wasn't her fault so why does it feel like I should shout at her,

"I-I'm sorry.. Juvia it isn't your fault so I shouldn't shout at you."

"No, no, it's fine Luce, I understand, I'd feel the same if it was gray-sama" Juvia explained as she smiled.

"Lucy... Why are you shouting?.." I turned around to see a tired happy yawning.

"Good morning happy," I said with a true smile on my face for once.

"Where's Natsu? Is he okay!" Exclaimed happy as he realized Natsu was missing from his normal spot.

"Don't worry happy's he's fine.. They took him to a hospital to try to help him.."

I looked at happy who wasn't staring in my direction anymore, he had a VERY different emotion then it was three seconds ago.. It was shock... Then I realized who he was looking at..

I turned around water filled my eyes as I was surrounded by warmth from the one I'd been waiting for.. Natsu..

He was warm again, he was back to being bright and bubbly again, I was speechless, like my whole life flawed before my eyes, it was.. Him..

"I-I'm back Luce.." He whispered in my ear

"I love you Lucy.. More than words can explain.. So stop crying and smile.. Because I missed you.."
My eyes widened at his word and I was filled with happiness and love once more..

"I love you to.. Natsu <3"