Introduction

This story is based on the movie Sanam Teri Kasam and they're lives would have been if Saru had lived.

Chapter 1

After the scare we had when Saru went to the hospital and she lived. I, Inder, decided to take her on a honeymoon. She has no idea where we are going or that we are going anywhere. Right now we are going my apartment and the bags are already packed and ready to go.

Appa, has been asking me whether or not if I want to become a lawyer like him and join the firm. I told him after the trip I'll think about it. We have gotten on better terms and I have forgiven him, and if it wasn't for Saru, we wouldn't have gotten this opportunity to make up. He said he's sorry and understands why I killed uncle.

Inder, has been acting strangely since we've come home. He's being too secretive, even for him. Every time I ask him a question, like what are we going to do when I come home, he just smiles at me and doesn't answer.

"Inder, what are you up to?"

"Nothing my love."

"Are you sure. Because you look pretty secretive today."

He just gave me that cute, charming smile of his, that he's been giving me since the car ride home.

"Are you sure, you're not up to something. Mere priy."

"Sanam teri kasam."

"All right, I believe you."

"Alright, my love. You may open your eyes now."

As Inder uncovers my eyes, I see that there are two bags packed, and my eyes fill with tears as I turn to look at MY HUSBAND as he grabs me to give me a hug.

Introduction

This is part 2 of my first work. This is about them preparing to go to their honeymoon.

Chapter 1

Saru

This has been the best surprise ever. Inder is taking me to America. He somehow got our visa for one month, without me even knowing. And he even packed our bags, but I have a sneaking feeling that Baba and Maan helped him. I have to say, this sounds like something that they would do to make up. Baba has a respect for Inder and Inder also has respect for Baba, which is very strange but very good at the same time.

Inder

The look on Saru's face was priceless. I will always remember the way how she looked up at me as I hugged her. Of course, I didn't do this on my own, no. I had helped. Father and Mother-in-law, helped in packing the bags, since I was always at the hospital. Saru's doctor told me to take it easy on her and if we were to go anywhere it has to be peaceful and not stressful. So, I have decided to take her the beach and the mountains in America. We are going to spend two weeks at Oahu, Honolulu and two weeks at the Rocky Mtns. in Wyoming.

Saru

We are now at the airport and Inder won't even let me carry my own little purse.

"Mere priy, I can carry my own purse. You do know that, right?"

"I do, it's just, that..... I want to make this seem like an actual honeymoon to where the husband does everything for the wife. I do believe it is called the newly wed stage, if I read that right in one of the books you were reading."

"Wait, you were reading a book, without asking me? I can't believe it, and it was a romance book at

"Be quiet, my love. I just wanted to see what you were reading and to see if it was good. Because, being in that hospital for two months can get very boring. Plus, I was a married man so I couldn't check out the women."

When I turned around to scold him he grabbed my arm and pulled me in a small corner and kissed my cheek and just smiled at me because he knows I am not a big fan of PDA, unlike him.

"Flight number 65 will be leaving in ten minutes." said the announcer.

"I guess I will have to finish that kiss in the plane." he said as he gave me his charming and cute smile he always gives me.

"We'll see."

Introduction

Part 3. This one is about their trip to Oahu, Honolulu.

Chapter 1

Saru

The cottage Inder has rented for us is so amazing. It's small and homey, and so different from anything that we have India, at least from what I know. The cottage looks like something from one of the books that I have read.

"Well....., what do you think of the cottage."

"I absolutely love it."

"That's good. I was afraid that you would think that it was too much."

"It is to me, but since it came from you and also I have a feeling that I will need to get use to the idea of having expensive things. Correct, mere priy?"

"Han, my love. Or should I say Ji, my love."

"Nahi. Han is good enough for me."

"Wonderful. Now, will you please hand me my bag as I get dressed to go swimming."

"Yes, mere priy."

It is kind of funny on how you always end up with the people that you never, expect to be with.

Before I met Inder I was very nerdy and old fashioned that no guy wanted me. I got rejected by nine guys who did not want to marry me. Inder, on the other hand had no problem with getting a woman.

He was and still is a ladies man. Inder may seem like an emotionless person, but deep down he is one of the most sweetest guys you will ever meet.

"Your turn to get in your swimsuit, my love."

"Ok. Quick question though."

"Go ahead."

"Why do you call me 'my love'? Don't get me wrong, I love it when you call me that."

"It's a simple answer, but if I answer it you might think that I am a helpless romantic."

"Husband, you are deep down a helpless romantic."

Ok, here goes nothing. The reason is that my most painful memory was that when I walked away loving you and you let me go. So, from now on, I will always make sure that you know you ARE my love and also, I will never let you let me go."

I give him a hug and kiss him as he picks me up opens the door to leave our cottage and to go swimming.

Chapter 2

Inder

Saru looks so hot in that dress. Her mother must know her body type and her looks very, well. She should wear white more often.

"So..... what do you think? Is it fancy enough or is it too fancy. Because I really don't know what to wear or what I even what type of clothes I have."

"NO! I love it. I love the little flow it has, plus it's modest enough for you and also very, very, very nice for me to look at."

"Of course, my love. Mother must have picked it out just for you."

"Don't use my name for you on me. That's not how it works."

"I still think it is one of the most sweetest things any man could say. Most importantly it came from you."

"Anything for you, my love, my dear, and my wife."

"So, where are we going to eat at tonight."

I gave her one my smiles that I just know she can't resist and it's also my mysterious smile.

We are going to La Mer, which is the most fanciest restaurant that I could find in Oahu. I know that

Saru would have preferred something less expensive but, I thought she is a very special woman who some very special things and time. Time alone, which is something that she doesn't know about. Yes, I have her an appointment at the spa so she can get a massage.

"Oooh, Inder, this is too nice. Can you really afford this?"

"Not me, my love, but we. And yes, we can afford this."

"But why?"

"Because, you a very special woman who needs some spoiling. Also, you have another surprise."

"What is it, mere priy? Should I be scared or something?"

"That is up to you, mere priy."

"Now, you're using my word that I use for and you're using it for me."

"Han."

Then I grabbed her by the waist and I dip her as I lean in for a kiss and as usual she tries to stop me, but I always win in the end.

Introduction

This is about their first argument as a married couple.

Chapter 1

Inder

Love is a very complicated thing in life. In fact, it is the only thing that, we, as humans can never get right. We think that we do but our partner thinks otherwise. That what's happening right now. Saru, says that I shouldn't have spent all this money on our honeymoon and going to these fancy restaurants. I try telling her that we have the money and that is just for the honeymoon, which is why I'm spending all this money.

"Mere priy, you don't have to do all this. I mean just cancel our cabin in the mountains and we can go back home. I don't need all of this to know that you love me."

"Should have been nice to know, before we came to the airport and got in the plane and the planes about to take off."

"Don't get upset with me. I'm just telling you that this is a waste of money. Besides, I'm not used to this much 'richness' I guess I should call it."

"I'm not getting mad at you, I'm just a little hurt that you don't like the surprise as much as I expected you too."

"I didn't mean for it to sound like I didn't like it, because I do, it's just that to me, it is a waste of money."

"So, were on the same pace then."

"I guess so."

"Spending one week instead of two, right?"

"No, we are spending the two weeks that I reserved for us. I thought that you said that we were on the same pace?"

"You, were the one who said 'I guess so' not me."

"Because, I explained to you that it is not a waste of money. Then you said that we were on the same pace."

"I just thought that you would have your way and that I would also have my way."

"What is your way? No fun, no spending money."

"That is not what I meant, and you know it too. So, don't play that game with me, Inder Parihaar."

"What game? I don't know what you're talking about."

"Please, don't, not now, I'm not feeling good at the moment."

"Know what, we should just sit back in our seats and not talk to one another until we have figured this out."

Dhatt tere, this was supposed be a fun honeymoon but yet she has to make a big deal out of it and say that I am spending too much money and that's also a waste of money.

Chapter 2

Saru

Why does Inder have to make it more complicated that it really is? I'm just saying that, we don't need a one month honeymoon. I just really want to back home and create OUR home, instead of going to a 'home' that we have to leave in two weeks. Why can't he just get that, if he did then we wouldn't have gotten in this argument.

Three hours later

"Well, here we are. Home for two weeks, Saru not one, because I paid for two weeks."

"I'm just going to pretend as if I didn't hear that. Where's my bag, so that I can change into my pajamas?"

"You're going to bed this early. It's only nine o'clock."

"Exactly, I told you that I wasn't feeling good and now I wish to just go to bed."

"You're going to bed without discussing the argument we had earlier and it still hasn't been resolved yet?"

"What's the point, you've already told me that you don't say sorry."

"Now, you know that is a lie. I told you sorry at least once."

"That is because we've only had one argument together, my love. And if I recall, I needed to say sorry, for God's sake, I pushed you to the ground and left you there till late at night."

"Yeah, I remember and if I recall, you were much gentler then, than you are now."

"OK, now I know this has much more than our argument today. What is it?"

"Let me get changed and I'll think about telling you."

Ten minutes later

When I finished getting dressed, I came out of the bathroom and saw that Inder was dressed in a tank top and shorts. He was on the ground and motioned for me to join him. When I barely touched the floor he grabbed me and pulled into his lap.

"Now, please tell me what's really wrong. I know it's not the fact that our honeymoon is one month and that it's a waste of money."

"I.... just.... want to go home to India so that I could make, OUR home, but we instead we are staying at someone else's house for two weeks."

"So, you just can't wait to go home and start our own home. Why didn't you tell me this before?"

"Because, I didn't want you to think that I was homesick." I say as I take his hand and intertwined our fingers together as he looked down at our hands. "I'm also sorry for making it into a big deal. The honeymoon has so far went great."

"Thank you, my love. And I'm also sorry for not seeing earlier that you wanted to go home."

And with that he kissed me lightly.

"Do you really want to go to bed?"

"No, what do you have in mind?"

"There's this nice fast food in town and I don't know about, but I'm hungry."

I laugh as he picks me up and tells me to go get changed as he finds the right coordinates and changes also.
