Introduction

This fan fiction is gonna be about the first day of school for a new kid?.

PG 13

Chapter 1

I knew today would be horrible! My name is Mikayla and I'm 13 years old. I'm a transfer kid from England but I immigrated to the u.s to hopefully not get bullied as much but let me tell you, it was worse ?. As I stepped up to the school I felt out of place.

The feeling of being out of place felt normal now. I was there for now 3 weeks and I already have lots of friends. My first one is Addison. She has brown hair blue eyes. My second friend is Maddie. She has blond hair and blue eyes. She came from Germany! But one day I was out eating lunch and this kid named James tipped over my tray and food got all over my clothes. "Why did you do this JAMES!" I stated before my moods kicked in. I got in massive trouble ? cause of him. As I was in the detention room I tried to explain that this kid named James tipped over my tray! But they didn't understand.

THE END!
