Chapter 1

"I'm sick and tired of this!" Zane complained as his twin sister Abigail drew a picture of them in the dirt. "Stop complaining there's nothing we can do about it," Abigail replied.

Abigail and Zane's parents died in a car accident causing them to live on the streets ever since they were toddlers. Because they were just children, thieves and criminals would always chase them around town and steal their money. Abigail and Zane were sick and tired of it.

"What are you drawing there little girl?" Asked a voice behind them. The twins slowly turned around to see another thief behind them.

They ran.

By now they have done this so many times, they knew the city like the back of their hands. But unfortunately for them, they got lost.

"At least we lost him!" Zane said trying to stay happy. "It could've been much worse!" He exclaimed. "You know we could just live here this time, they took all of our money!" He turned around. "Abigail?" He asked. She was on the floor crying. "Hey," he said putting a comforting hand on her shoulder. "What's wrong?" Zane hates to see his sister cry, yet she was always crying.

"The charm bracelet," Abigail whispered. "It's gone?"

Abigail's charm bracelet was a gift from her parents before they died. It was the only thing they had left if them.

"Where did it go?" Zane asked trying to sound calm. The truth was, he was just as sad as Abigail but he didn't want to show it. She pointed towards a cliff, and Zane followed her gaze. 'There!' Zane 'How could it possibly get there!' Abigail put her head into her arms. 'The thief threw it' she mumbled.

Zane looked up at the cliff. 'I don't think we'll be able to get it' Zane told Abigail. 'I'm sorry?' Abigail abruptly stood up. 'No! It's only half way up! I can get it!' She said. 'Please?' Zane shook his head. 'I don't want you to get hurt'

But it was too late. Abigail was sprinting towards the cliff. 'Abigail! Wait!' She was a lot faster than she looked.

Abigail started her climb. An hour later, she made it to the bracelet and slipped it on her wrist. 'Okay you got it now! Come down! Let's go home!' Zane yelled. But Abigail wouldn't move. 'Come on Abigail! Don't be stubborn?' she still stayed put like a car that had run out of gas.

Then all of the sudden, she started climbing higher and higher, to the top of the cliff. 'Abigail!' Zane called. She didn't respond. She had this strange urge to get to the top, as if she was a magnet and the top was a fridge.

After a couple of minutes of calling for Abigail, Zane decided to climb after her and bring her down safely. He looked at the cliff in front of him. The rocks were too sharp to climb and the footholds were too small, but he needed to get to his sister.

Abigail's knees bled, her clothes ripped, blisters formed on her hands, but she didn't care. She wanted so bad to get to the top.

At last, she made it and she collapsed on the hard rocky surface. She laid on the floor for a while then found her strength to stand up. As soon as she did she collapsed again and cried. She felt like such a fool. She came all this way for nothing and worst of all, she made Zane come after her. But she still had this empty feeling inside of her that was begging her to move forward, so she did. She made her way to the centre of the mountain where she found a smooth round rock. It was slightly glowing and as red as a ruby. She realized it was a necklace and put it on. But now that she got what she wanted, it made her cry even more. This was just a useless necklace. There was nothing she could do with it. She couldn't even find a way to get back down the cliff. She cried and cried, but all of the sudden her tears felt like hot coals on her cheeks.

Her insides felt like pure fire spreading throughout her whole body. From her chest, to her eyes, to her fingertips. It came to the point that it hurt so bad she couldn't see anything, and everything around her seemed like pure light.

She screamed. 'Abigail?' Zane asked. His worry for her made him climb faster and higher. And with every step, he got more and more worried.

The fire inside of Abigail seemed to expand and scream to come out. She held it in as long as she could, but eventually it escaped. The flames shot out of her fingertips, Abigail was shocked. She was like her favourite superhero, he could summon and control fire at will, and it wouldn't burn them at all. She laughed. All of the sudden the pain felt good. It felt good to yell and scream. It felt good to burn away her tears and pain.

That was the exact moment Zane made it to the top of the cliff worried out of his mind. The sight of his sister in fire was enough for him to lose his grip in shock and start falling.

By the time Abigail heard his scream, it was too late.

Chapter 2

People must've noticed Abigail was alone because she earned a lot of money. Enough money to start going to school. So, of course, she did. She found a cheap private school not too far from her place on the street, so she decided it was about time to start getting educated. She was known as zipper in her class because she never talked. Luckily they didn't know she was homeless, Abigail tried to ignore the nicknames that came to her mind if they ever found out. Every day after school, Abigail would practice her fire abilities. She got stronger and more powerful each day and she could feel it. She was actually getting pretty used to her new schedule by now. The only thing she would've had different is having Zane by her side. She tried to believe it wasn't all her fault but it was hard. A month into her new school, there was another new student named Alexandra. She seemed just as shy and contained as she was. The only difference is that she was super popular the moment she walked into the classroom. Everyone loved her. It seemed like she was friends with everyone in the class but her. But one day Alexandra decided to be Abigail's friend too.

She walked up to Abigail and tried to start a conversation and to Abigail's surprise, she was really easy to talk to. She was about to shut out Alexandra's voice and concentrate on her own thoughts when she noticed a green glow under her shirt.

Abigail immediately perked up startling Alexandra. "Is everything okay?" She asked. Abigail immediately pulled out her necklace and showed Alexandra. "Where did you get that necklace?" Abigail whispered. Alexandra glanced down at Abigail's and looked around to make sure no one was listening. "The top of Midnight Cliff?" she said softly. Abigail didn't know that was the name of the but she assumed that was where she found her's too. "Me too?" Abigail said shocked. She thought she was the only one who had one. "Wanna do something crazy?" Alexandra asked. Abigail grinned. "I love crazy?"

They started studying every person in their class checking if anyone had a different coloured necklace. But no one did. A week later, they gave up. "I don't think anyone else has one?" Alexandra said disappointed. "It's okay?" Abigail said. "We're two in a million!" She laughed. "Thanks, that's just-?"

She never got to finish her sentence because the fire alarms started blaring. "Evacuate! Evacuate!" The teacher called ushering everyone out of the school.

Abigail stayed behind. She blamed herself for starting the fire, even though she couldn't remember using her powers.

"Evacuate! Evacuate!" The teacher continued to yell. Abigail hid under one of the desks. Once everyone was gone, a boy in her class named Ryder sprinted in to go get her. Abigail was shocked. "Come on! You're gonna get hurt!" The boy awfully reminded her of Zane calling for her to climb down. She stood where she was, then got herself together to respond. "No! This is all my fault!" She yelled. "No it's not! Come on! You'll burn!" He urged.

For someone she barely knew, he seemed to really care about her.

The fire was growing and Ryder could see the flames coming towards Abigail from behind her. He grabbed her hand and pulled her behind him.

"Don't freak out okay?"

"Trust me nothing freaks me out nowadays?"

"If you say so!"

He turned towards the fire and started running towards it. When he was right in front of it, he extended his arms and water shot out of his palms, extinguishing the flames. He turned to Abigail with a big grin on his face. But frowned when he saw the unimpressed look on Abigail's face.

"Why are you acting like this is completely normal!" Ryder asked. "Aren't you impressed?" Abigail said nothing. "Addison?" "It's Abigail?" "Sorry, why aren't you... you know... wowed?" Abigail laughed. "Because this?" she said. She closed her eyes and held out her hand. Fire blasted from her hand and onto the wall starting the fire again. Ryder looked really shocked, but his shocked look turned into curiosity when he saw Abigail's necklace. "Where did you get that necklace?" He asked. He put out the fire and started circling around her. "Midnight Cliff?" Abigail said casually. Ryder took off his blue crystal bracelet and showed it to her. "Me too?" he whispered.

"Come on, we should go join the rest of the class?" Abigail said. Ryder blushed. "Okay?"

Chapter 3

"There you are!" Alexandra said as Abigail and Ryder walked out of the building. "I thought I would wait for you guys because I don't really have a home to go home to." Abigail smiled. "Thanks for waiting for us." Abigail looked over to Ryder who was fidgeting with his bracelet and looking around nervously. "Are you okay Ryder?" Alexandra asked. He looked up and nodded and looked down to his feet again.

"I can tell her for you." Abigail whispered in his ear. He nodded slowly and Abigail turned to Alexandra. She took a deep breath. "Ryder has a blue crystal bracelet that gives him water abilities like how we have these necklaces that give us nature and fire powers so we need to team up all of our powers so we can be even stronger and we can be like-?" she caught her breath for one moment "superheroes!"

Alexandra studied Ryder. "You too?" She asked. "Yep?" he said quickly. "How come we've never seen your necklace before?" She asked. He held up his wrist showing her his bracelet and she nodded.

"We need to go to Midnight Cliff and combine our powers." Abigail said. "That way, we'll have more control over our abilities." They both thought for a moment but agreed so they started their climb up the mountain.

This time it felt a lot easier now that the three of them were a lot stronger. Abigail got calluses from her last climb up Midnight Cliff, so she felt prepared.

A couple hours later, they made it to the top. "Ready?" Alexandra asked. The three of them nodded held hands. Abigail couldn't explain the feeling inside inside of her. She assumed the others felt the same way. She felt adrenaline rush through her blood and pure energy pulse through her veins. She felt on top of the world, like she could do anything, like she could accomplish all her dreams. But that feeling went away in a blink of her eye.

She blacked out.

Abigail woke up on the ground staring at the bottom of Midnight Cliff. "I must have fell" She thought. Even though there was no possible way of surviving. She looked around her trying to make sense of where she was, when she realized she was hovering a foot off the ground. She screamed, then fell. "Alexandra? Ryder?" She called out. No answer. She started to walk around searching for her friends. "Are you guys okay?" She yelled. No answer. Then she heard something to her left. "Hello? Anyone?" Abigail whipped around, facing the way she heard the voice coming from. "Ouch!" She had whipped her hair in her face while turning around. She laughed. "Abigail!" The voice yelled excitedly. "Alexandra!" Abigail could see Alexandra off in the distance, also floating an inch off the ground, a lot lower than Abigail.

They ran to each other and met near a set of stairs. "Seriously?" Alexandra yelled. "We climbed for nothing? There was a set of stairs all along!" She kicked the dirt in frustration. "Um Alexandra? Abigail said tapping her friend's shoulder.

"I think you made those stairs when you fell?"

"huh?"

"I mean, you formed them in the rocks as you fell down?"

"Is that possible?"

"Apparently?"

They stared at the stairs for a good moment when they heard a voice behind them. "Hello?" The two girls turned around, this time whipping each other in the face with their hair. "Ouch!" Alexandra said. "You have hard hair!" "Sorry" Abigail laughed. "Now come on, let's go catch up with Ryder?"

"You're not Ryder!" Alexandra said when they ran up to the boy they thought was Ryder. "Sorry that was rude of us" Abigail said elbowing Alexandra. "I'm Abigail, this is Alexandra" Alexandra sighed. "Nice to meet you" the boy said. "I'm Edward. I haven't met anyone like you two in a long time" Abigail and Alexandra glanced at each other. "How could that be? He's literally the same age as us!" Abigail wanted to say, but she didn't want to be rude. "I saw you two levitating earlier, you guys are unique" Alexandra giggled. She flipped her hair back. "Well thank you" she said. Abigail gaped at her. Was she flirting with this random boy? She decided to talk to her later. "We better get going now" Abigail said quickly as she grabbed Alexandra's hand and started pulling her away. "You mustn't go now!" Edward said. "You both look like you could use some food, shelter, and water! I have all of those things!" Abigail hesitated. Food, shelter and water really did sound good. She looked at Alexandra for confirmation. She nodded. "Okay fine! We'll stay for a little while then we need to go. We are looking for our friend" Abigail said. "Yay!" Edward cheered like a little kid. "Let us go to my mansion!" Abigail almost laughed. This little boy was talking like he was so mature but when you really looked at him, he was a little brat.

They arrived shortly after eight. "Okay" Edward said. He looked super excited now. "Don't be afraid of my guards. They're kinda picky with who I make friends with" Abigail and Alexandra glanced at each other nervously. "Got it" Alexandra said. She no longer seemed to like this boy.

When they stepped inside, two men in metal gear grabbed Abigail's arms. "Ugh. Edward's guards?"

Abigail thought. She looked at Edward for help. "These are my friends. Not to worry, let them go" he his guards calmly.

They let go. "Now" Edward said excitedly "Let's have some fun!" Abigail and Alexandra hooted so they didn't seem rude.

Abigail couldn't believe her eyes. He had a private jet, his own amusement park, and an island named after him! He was living the exact opposite of Abigail and Alexandra.

"Do you guys want to see the show tomorrow?" He asked while the three of them drank creamy strawberry milkshakes. "We should probably get going now, our friend must be waiting for us?"

Abigail started to say but stopped when she saw the look on Edward's face. He looked angry, almost devilish. If looks could kill, Abigail would be in a position much worse than death.

"How about we stay?" Alexandra said uncertainly. "Oh boy" Abigail thought. "No wonder this boy had no friends. He just had to have everything his way" she had an angry conversation with herself in her mind but luckily it didn't show. "So what is this show you were talking about?" Alexandra asked sweetly. "Oh! The show! You two will be the stars! I thought I would give you a chance to become famous!" That snapped Abigail out of her trance. She almost spit out her milkshake. "What!?" She yelled. "Relax! There won't be that many people there!" Abigail did relax a little at this. Maybe a little too much. "Why didn't you talk to us before you did this!?" Alexandra shouted. "Shhh" Edward hushed putting one finger on Alexandra's lip. "Get your dirty finger off of me!" She yelled slapping his wrist. Edward stood up slowly with a very creepy smile on his face. He took a deep breath, then sat back down again. He must be working on his anger issues. "Well" He continued in a voice that sounded too kind. "What's the point to a surprise if the people you're surprising already know everything about it?" He asked. Abigail and Alexandra glanced at each other nervously. Edward noticed.

"Don't worry! It's just a little stage fright!" The two girls still didn't look happy. Edward sighed. "Look, you two are different. You two are powerful. You see those necklaces you have? I hear there's two more that'll make me super powerful! One's blue, it's actually a bracelet. Don't tell anyone, but I think I've tracked it down. I can be apart of your team, we can fight side by side! Water can beat anything! It's so powerful! But used in the wrong hands, things can go completely wrong. Which is why, I tracked it down to Midnight Cliff! I have a clear crystal right here that I found on Midnight Cliff too! Guess what it is! Air! Air and water together is crazy powerful! But no one is allowed to touch it because the moment they do, the crystal will be theirs for good. It's magic wouldn't work for anyone else! Which is why I'm planning on touching it the instant I get the water crystal. I assume it will work better that way now that it will be reunited with one of its own" he smiled at them. "What do you think?" He asked. Abigail was speechless. One more crystal? Air? This boy just wanted power, nothing else. But Alexandra smiled back. "Really good idea Edward" she said as if she were in a trance. She smiled a smile too big to be Alexandra's. Then it hit her. This milkshake wasn't a normal milkshake. He was hypnotizing then to help him with his evil plan. Abigail looked down at her milkshake, then glanced at Alexandra's. Alexandra had drank all of hers, Abigail only had a few sips. She only had one choice. Play along.

"What do think?" Edward asked Abigail. Abigail smiled like Alexandra did. It hurt her lips. "I love it?" she said. It was painful to say, but she didn't want to blow it for them. "What do you think about staying overnight here?? Edward asked. Alexandra smiled that creepy smile again. ?Yes!? She said immediately. ?Sounds great!? Abigail said trying to sound enthusiastic. Edward looked at her suspiciously, but then smiled back. ?Great! That way you?ll be right on time for the show tomorrow? he stood up and stretched. ?We should probably get to bed. It?s already ten thirty? He said with a big grin. ?Here I?ll show you to your rooms?

Chapter 5

"Here you are!" Edward exclaimed showing them a huge pink room with two queen beds and a snack bar. "Enjoy your stay at the Edward mansion!" He laughed at his own joke. "Goodnight new friends!" "Goodnight!" Alexandra responded in a creepy doll voice. Abigail shuddered as Edward locked their door. As soon as he was out of earshot, Abigail grabbed Alexandra by her shoulders. "Alexandra snap out of it!" She yelled into her ear. "Huh?" She said. Her eyes seemed to go back into focus. Abigail smiled. The real Alexandra was still in there.

Abigail spent the next hour trying to help her friend but it was no use. Eventually Alexandra fell asleep. Abigail wondered if she would feel better in the morning.

Then a crazy idea hit her. Abigail just had to make sure Edward couldn't get the power he wanted. She knew Ryder had the water crystal already, and she knew where the air crystal was. She could steal it right at midnight. She smiled at the comfort of her plans and spent the next half an hour planning out what she would do.

When the clock hit twelve, the guards started going to bed. Abigail waited a few minutes for all the guards to leave so she could start her crazy plan. She was about to open her door when a thought hit her. "But no one is allowed to touch it because the moment they do, the crystal will be theirs for good. It's magic wouldn't work for anyone else!" That was what Edward said when he was explaining his evil plan.

Abigail shook her head. "No. I'm not like Edward. I don't want the power. I will just take it and keep it safe and make sure no one gets it. Yes. That's what I will do?"

She didn't know how she could steal it without touching it though. Edward wasn't specific. Did it work if it touched someone's skin? Or would it still work with a glove on? Abigail decided to take her bed sheet and wrap it around so she wouldn't be in contact with it at all. Yes. She liked this plan. She stuffed her bed sheet in her pocket which was surprisingly big. She threw on a black beanie and gloves so she wouldn't leave any fingerprints.

She snuck out.

After a while of searching through Edward's labyrinth of a house, she found the room they had milkshakes in. Abigail smiled. She was so close.

She almost felt guilty for stealing. "I don't think my parents would approve of this," she thought. But shrugged it off. She reminded herself that she was stealing for a good cause.

After blindly searching through the darkness, she found it. It was inside of a transparent glass case. Abigail never thought about how she would get it out.

Then she felt that familiar feeling she felt when she was climbing to the top of Midnight Cliff. Abigail stopped where she was. "Abigail! Come down! You're gonna get hurt! Come on Abigail! Don't be stubborn!" She heard Zane's voice say. She started to cry once more. She hated this feeling. Once again she felt that feeling that she needed to get inside that glass case. She would do anything to get it. But there was something different. Guilt. Sadness. "I will do anything," Abigail said to herself determinedly. She grabbed the chair next to her and smashed the glass case open.

She felt like time was moving in slow motion. The glass flew all around her, cutting her face. The alarms blared, hurting her ears.

She quickly snatched the blanket out of her pocket and wrapped it around the crystal. She let it dangle by her side as she ran out of the room and back to her bedroom. She didn't see any guards so she didn't dare stop and look behind her.

She finally reached her borrowed bedroom and quickly threw off her black clothes and pretended to sleep. She opened one eye to make sure no one saw her, but luckily there was no one there. But she did see something. She had left the crystal on the mini fridge.

She was about to jump up and grab it when she saw the guard's footsteps outside her door. She was about to keep fake sleeping when she realized they were coming to her room.

She sprang up, grabbed the crystal, and started to run back when she heard a strange noise. "What was that?" She thought. Her heart was beating so hard she thought it was going to blast out of her chest.

Then she sighed with relief when she realized what it was. It was just Alexandra snoring. But that wasn't such a good thing now that it kept her standing by the door longer. She heard a creak and her head whipped towards the door. The handle was moving which meant, the guards were coming in.

"Think Abigail think!" She whispered to herself. She didn't have enough time to run back to her bed. The room was way too big. Maybe Edward put her in a huge room on purpose.

Alexandra snored again. This time Abigail was grateful because it gave her an idea. A very risky idea, yes, but it was an idea. The guards stormed through the door and pointed at Abigail standing in the middle of the room. This was her only chance. She pretended to snore. It hurt her throat, but it was totally worth it. She closed her eyes and started walking forward. She bumped into Alexandra's bed frame waking her up. Abigail pretended to wake up too. "Woah! What happened? Where am I?" Abigail asked trying to sound confused. Alexandra also looked confused. "Ouch! My head hurts?"

Alexandra complained. Then she screamed when she saw the guards. Abigail tried to act scared too she wasn't a very good actor. Luckily it was dark so the guards didn't really notice.

"Ugh. Edward sent us out for a sleep walker! A sleep walker!" The first guard complained. "Kid. You should start taking sleeping pills!" The second guard said pointing at Abigail. "Uh sorry?" Abigail apologized. "Now go back to sleep. Oh! And didn't wake me up again!" The guard said angrily. He slammed the door shut and Abigail got into her bed.

After a while, Abigail couldn't take it anymore. "Alexandra?" She whispered. "Yeah?" She whispered back. Abigail smiled. "I'm glad your back?" "What do you mean?" Alexandra asked. But Abigail was already asleep.

Chapter 6

Abigail woke up to Edward sitting on top of her yelling in her face. "Wake up!" He screamed. "Ah! I'm up!" Abigail screamed back. Edward laughed. "Care for a breakfast milkshake?" He asked. Abigail was disgusted. Was he really still doing this? "Um, no thank you. I'm still a little bit full from last night." Abigail replied trying to sound polite. "Oh?" Edward said clearly disappointed. "What about a-" "No thanks!" Abigail interrupted. "I don't normally eat breakfast." Edward just nodded. "Right! Right, I've seen you on the streets not too far from here!" Edward said. "Wow?" Abigail thought. "He is not afraid to say what he wants?"

Abigail sat up. "Where's Alexandra?" Edward frowned. "She's in the kitchen." "Thanks?" Abigail said. And just like that, she left, going to the kitchen to find Alexandra.

Edward was secretly disappointed. This whole time, he had been trying to impress Abigail. But it seemed she didn't like rich kids. "Maybe?" Edward said to himself "She likes kids with powers, just like her so called friend." He laughed. A cruel, evil laugh, that made him feel so good.

Abigail found Alexandra searching through the fridge, trying to find something to eat. "No!" Abigail yelled tackling Alexandra to the ground. "Hey!" Alexandra complained. "What was that for?" Abigail noticed that she was holding an apple. She was just about to take a bite before Abigail tackled her. "Don't eat anything on this property?" Abigail warned. "The milkshake you had last night hypnotized you?" Alexandra blinked twice trying to make sense of what her friend was saying when there was an blood curdling scream.

Edward sprinted downstairs grabbing his hair. "No! No! No!" "What? What? What?" Alexandra in a mocking voice. "The crystal! It's gone!" "The crystal! It's- Wait what?" "Somebody must've broke in last night and stole the air crystal!" He yelled. "What!" Abigail said trying to sound shocked. "I know right!" He said back. "There's broken glass everywhere!" He said. Then he froze. If he were a cartoon, a light bulb would've popped up over his head.

"Well?" He said mischievously "Why am I complaining if I have two powerful crystals right here!" Alexandra and Abigail once again, exchanged very nervous glances.

"Guards!" Edward called. "Run!" Alexandra yelled. And so they did. Abigail and Alexandra were being chased around Edward's maze house for two whole hours. They hid in a closet to catch their breath as they watched the guards run past them. "You alright?" Abigail asked. But she clearly wasn't. Alexandra looked so pale. Her eyes were half closed and she was out of breath.

Abigail took a deep breath. "Alexandra?" she whispered. Alexandra slowly turned her head to her friend. "There's something I want you to have?" Abigail grabbed a towel from the nearest shelf and reached into her pocket, the towel completely covering her hand. She took out the air crystal and held it out for Alexandra to take. "Go ahead, take it?" Abigail said. Alexandra shook her head. "If I touch it it will be mine! I don't deserve it?" She said. Abigail shook her head. "Yes you do! You need the extra power and you're the only person I think can actually handle it and use it for good?" Alexandra looked up at Abigail. "Are you sure?" She asked. "One hundred percent?" Abigail said.

Alexandra slowly started reaching for the crystal when they heard a voice behind them.

"Well well well, what do we have here?" It was Edward.

"I see you're the one who has stolen my crystal?" Edward said gritting his teeth. He started slowly advancing on them, causing them both to get squashed in the corner.

"Hand it over now!" Edward yelled. "Never!" Alexandra yelled back. He made a grab for it but only managed to grab a corner of the towel. Alexandra kicked him in the stomach, causing the crystal to fly up into the air. Edward landed right under it. He laughed. "Nice try but it looks like it's right in my reach!" He said as he jumped up to grab it. "No!" Alexandra yelled. She closed her eyes, kneeled down, and placed her hands on the floor. All of the sudden, out of nowhere, vines shot out of the ground, grabbing Edward by his ankles, pulling him down to the ground. "Ugh!" He screamed in frustration.

The crystal fell to the floor. Abigail tried grabbing another towel but Alexandra was already wrapping her vines around it and raising it to the ceiling. "Wow?" Abigail thought. "Alexandra is powerful?" Edward too, was staring at Alexandra with shock. It wasn't everyday you saw a sixteen year old girl on the floor, making vines grow out of nowhere. Soon Abigail was over her shock, but was too shocked to move again when she saw the air crystal shooting towards her. She realized Alexandra had thrown it at her with her vines. "No!" Edward yelled. But it was too late. The crystal hit Abigail's cheek.

Nothing happened.

Edward laughed. "Ha! Jokes on you that was a fake crystal!" He yelled at them. But Alexandra and Abigail could tell he was just as confused as they were.

A guard peeked through the door. "Um Master Edward?"

"What!"

“Get out!” He yelled at his guard. “You’re fired! All of you! Fired!” The guards stayed where they were. “Fired!” At this the guards started walking out murmuring to each other.

“Ugh!” Edward cried out. “I don’t know why the crystal didn’t do anything! I don’t know who you are!” There was a knock on the door. “And I don’t know who that is!” He yelled. He seemed so angry he looked like he was about to explode. “If you don’t know who it is why don’t you just check?” Alexandra roared. Edward screamed. Abigail thought she heard a window shatter. Under different circumstances, she would’ve laughed. “I’ll just get it” she said. “Thank you! Someone who actually cares!” Edward cried out.

Abigail walked over to the door. By now she remembered the hallways by heart.

She opened the door. “Hello? Ah!” There was suddenly a boy pinning her to the ground. “Abigail! You worried me out of my mind!” Abigail laughed. “Ryder!” She hugged him. Ryder blushed and hugged her back.

They got up and Abigail told him everything that had happened. From meeting Edward, to the crystal hitting her. “Wow?” Ryder said astonished. “I thought I had a big adventure?” Abigail laughed but immediately stopped. She turned very pale. “Abigail? Are you okay?” Ryder asked. “Get Alexandra?” Abigail managed to say before she passed out.

Ryder rushed to the closet Alexandra was in. Luckily when Abigail told him what had happened, she had been very specific. “Alexandra-?” “Ryder!” Alexandra yelled happily. Then he was tackled with hugs. “MmmMMMMmm!” Said a voice in the corner. “Oh that’s Edward?” Alexandra said casually. He had his hands tied behind his back and duct tape on his mouth. “So how are you?” Alexandra asked. “There’s no time for that! Abigail’s in trouble!” Ryder said panicked. “What! I leave her alone for five minutes and she’s dying!” Alexandra yelled. Ryder said nothing “Well? Where is she!” “Follow me!” Ryder said.

Meanwhile, Abigail was on the floor, now awake, but barely. She could feel the air getting sucked out of her lungs, the gravity getting stronger, pinning her to the ground. The air around her all of the sudden felt fake, like everything around her was a lie.

Slowly, very slowly, Abigail began to stand up. She was in so much pain she thought she was dying for sure. But then the air returned to her lungs, the gravity pressure lessened, and the pain went away. Abigail was left a completely different person.

Not only did she feel stronger than before, she could also control all the air around her.

Chapter 7

Ryder and Alexandra found Abigail where Ryder left her. At first they didn't recognize her. Then she explained what had happened, and how she thought the air crystal took time to effect someone. "I don't deserve this," Abigail said sadly. "Why'd you throw it at me?"

"What do you mean you don't deserve it? I threw it at you because I- because I-" She sat down and started crying. "Because you what?" Ryder asked. "It felt right," she finally said. "Last night, I had a strange dream. There was a girl around our age named Coco. She told me that these crystals were thousands of years old and that she used to have the fire crystal. They have been passed down for generations and generations to random people that Coco has chosen!"

Ryder and Abigail looked at each other. "Well it was just a dream," Abigail said. And what does that have anything to do with you giving it to me?" "Because," Alexandra said in a whiny voice. "Ever since, I have been hearing her voice in my head telling me what to do all day. She told me to throw the crystal at you Abigail, she told me that you were the chosen one. She said we need to find a boy named Zane. She said that he was born with a special power that can help us." Abigail stared at her in disbelief. "Why didn't you tell me about this?" She asked. "Well you were asleep, and-" there was another knock on the door. The three of them looked at each other, trying to figure out if anyone knew who it was. Ryder shrugged. "I guess I'll get it," and walked away. "Do you know anyone named Zane?" Alexandra asked her. Abigail looked to the floor. Alexandra saw a single tear drop from her face. "You do know him?" she said. Abigail just nodded. "He is?" she gulped down a sob. "He is my twin brother? She glanced up at Alexandra who had her jaw dropped. ?At least he was my twin Alexandra tried not to cry herself. ?I am so sorry? she squeezed her friend into a hug. ?Everyone says that? Abigail said. ?But they wouldn?t be sorry if they knew the truth? Alexandra let go and patted the spot next to her. Abigail sat down. ?Are you comfortable sharing?? She asked. Abigail shook her head. ?But hey! It?s fine! Everything?s fine!? Abigail said obviously not fine. ?There?s nothing we can do!? She wiped a tear and started to walk out of the room.

?Or maybe there is? Alexandra whispered to herself. She grinned. ?Did you say something?? Abigail asked. ?No! No! She sighed. ?Okay, I think I might know how to bring him back? Abigail stopped at this. ?How??

?Um guys?? It was Ryder. ?There is a strange girl at the door, and uh? he gulped nervously. ?She wants to see you Alexandra?

Alexandra walked over to the door trying to figure out who it could be. ?Is it my mom? No. She would never come back for me. What?s the point of abandoning a child if you?re gonna come back?? She thought. But when she saw who it was, her jaw dropped. She blinked a couple times to make sure she wasn?t seeing things. ?Hello Alexandra?

It was Coco.

Chapter 8

Alexandra had to grab hold of the door frame to stop herself from falling over. "Coco? I thought you died thousands of years ago! Is it really you?" She asked. Coco just smiled. "Yes it is. My friend here brought me back?"

A young boy Alexandra's age walked in. Her jaw dropped once again. He had the same fiery red hair as Abigail, his eyes were as intimidating as hers, and every individual feature was identical to Abigail's.

"This is Zane, the boy I told you about?" Coco said letting Zane step forward. "Sup?" he said. "Sick place! Is this where you live?" Alexandra could tell he was trying to stay chill, but his big grin gave him away. "Uh, no! I actually got hypnotized and almost died here!" She said. She laughed at her own joke. But when she stopped, Zane's eyes widened with amazement. "Wait, you're serious?"

Alexandra nodded her head. "Then what are you still doing here? Let's get out! I have a special place I want to take you to?" Alexandra smiled. "I'll get the others?" Zane stopped. "There's more people?" Alexandra couldn't help but grin. "You will be excited to meet them?" Zane just nodded nervously. Alexandra skipped back to the closet Ryder and Abigail were in. "Who was it?" Abigail asked. When she saw the big grin on her friend's face she got even more curious. "It was Coco?" she whispered. Ryder and Abigail stared at her for a moment to find any hints that she was joking, but she looked dead serious. "She also brought a friend who wants to take us somewhere!" She started skipping out the door. When she didn't see Ryder and Abigail behind her, she peeked back in the closet. "Well

Ryder whispered into Abigail's ear. "Be ready. We don't know who this friend is or if we can trust them." Abigail nodded. Holding hands, they walked out the door. All of the sudden, Abigail stopped. "Are you good?" He asked. Abigail closed her eyes and nodded. "In the air around me, I- I can sense something, or someone very powerful." Ryder smiled. "Looks like that air crystal is doing you some good."

"You think so?" She asked. Abigail didn't feel any different. "Well duh!" Ryder said in a girly voice.

"Wait...?" Ryder said mischievously. "What?"

"You wanna try something crazy?"

"You know I love crazy?"

"Since you can control air now...?"

"Yes?"

"Do you think...?"

"Yes!"

"Do you think you can fly?"

Abigail never thought about that before. "Only one way to find out!" Abigail grabbed Ryder's hand and jumped. To her surprise, they were floating. "Woohoo!" Ryder cheered.

Abigail thought she wouldn't want the extra power, but secretly, she was kind of glad Alexandra threw it at her. She was capable of so much now but she hoped it wouldn't take over her.

"Are you ready?" She asked Ryder. "Ready for whaaaaaaaaaaaaah!" Abigail blasted them forwards like a rocket and out the door. She safely landed on the roof and they sat down together.

They laughed as they held hands and talked about what they could do now with the air crystal.

Ryder had a secret. He was not like Alexandra and Abigail. He didn't need a crystal. He created the crystals.

"Abigail?" Ryder whispered. "Yeah?" She has never seen him like this before. He was blushing and looked guilty at the same time. "There's something I want to tell you." Abigail didn't know what to say. "I'm listening." Ryder took a deep breath. "I really like you." Abigail was speechless. Ryder put his hand on Abigail's shoulder. "Hear me out okay?" Ryder looked around nervously to make sure no one else was listening. "Ever since you walked in the classroom, I had this strange feeling. You're not like the other girls. You're mature, and honest, humble, basically perfect!" Abigail shook her head.

"I'm far from perfect. But there's something I want to tell you too." Abigail's face felt boiling hot, and she saw the tips of her hair light on fire. She couldn't believe she was going to say this, but she hoped it would be worth it. "Ryder?" she closed her eyes. "I like you too." even with her eyes closed she could tell he was smiling.

Chapter 9

Alexandra has been talking with Zane for a bit and she learned some interesting facts about him.

Fact number one: he has died and came back to life.

Fact number two: he was born with a healing power so he healed himself, and Coco, and brought them both back to life.

Fact number three: Zane is a good singer.

Fact number four: This dude is a maniac!

He is a complete dare devil and is nothing like Abigail. Abigail is shy, and uncertain, but Zane is confident, and well, Crazy!

Alexandra didn't have a clue where Abigail and Ryder were but she decided to wait. Watching the two twins reunite would be worth the wait.

Ryder and Abigail walked out of Edward's house holding hands. Alexandra didn't know what had happened in there, but she knew they were a thing now.

Alexandra turned to Zane excitedly. "They're coming!" She cheered. Zane put on his sunglasses. "I hope it was worth the wait" he complained. "Oh it will be" Alexandra thought.

As Abigail and Ryder approached, Zane's eyes widened. "Abigail?" He asked. "Zane?" Abigail was astonished. She started slapping her face. "Wake up! Wake up Abigail!" She yelled to herself. Zane just laughed. He pulled her into a tight hug and they hugged and laughed for a very, very long time.

Chapter 10

Ten years later, Ryder, Abigail, Alexandra, Zane, and Coco were sitting around a camp fire roasting marshmallows.

"What happens now?" Zane asked. The four of them looked at him questionably. "I think we should live normal lives. These past ten years, all our powers have been doing is attracting trouble?" everyone agreed with him. They wanted to have families, they wanted to live normal lives. "I'm down?" Ryder said. "Me too?" Alexandra said. "Me three?" Coco said. "I'm in?" Abigail said. And so they did.

They lived normal lives just like they wanted. Abigail and Ryder had two kids, Coco and Zane got engaged, and Alexandra found her soul-mate.

You might be wondering what happened to Edward. Well, unfortunately, Alexandra, Ryder, and Abigail forgot him in the closet and he has been locked inside for ten years.

You're also probably wondering what they did with the crystals. They hid them in the elementary school they all went to and chose a couple kids to claim the crystals a hundred years later.

And oh boy, the next chosen kids had quite an adventure.
