Introduction

A poem about a metaphor I learned about this classic game please comment and no hate thanks

Chapter 1

Hang man a poem by: Maddy

No one ever knows what to say in this game the less you think the more you pay.

This game might be fun but use the game in reality it could end someone

Guess a word wrong you get someone closer to suicide but say the right words and save someones life

Don't say the wrong words it might deeply hurt so try to be nice and don't be absurd because you could kill someone with one word
