Introduction

This is a poem I wrote about people making assumptions about you just because of your age

Chapter 1

Just because I'm young doesn't mean I always swear
It doesn't mean that hoodies and trainers are all that I wear
It doesn't mean I always steal
That I'm ungrateful for my meals
It doesn't mean that I have no idea what's going on in the world
Just because I'm young doesn't mean I'm full of trouble
It doesn't mean that I'm always in my own little bubble
It doesn't mean that I am always depressed and full of anxiety
It doesn't mean that I can live my life entirely freely
Just because I'm young doesn't mean that I don't care
It doesn't mean I'm always moody that the rain messed up my hair
It doesn't mean I hate my family
It doesn't mean I only drink Pepsi
It doesn't mean I say I hate my life just to fit in Just because I'm young doesn't mean I love tattoos
It doesn't mean I find it boring to relax and take a cruise
It doesn't mean I hate to read
It doesn't mean I'm full of greed
It doesn't mean I'm always on my phone and never do good deeds
