Introduction

A poem that means a lot to me. It might mean a lot to you as well!

Chapter 1

Poison me with your words
Until I hear the birds
Singing my name scornfully
In a horrifying harmony

Poison me with your actions
Until you feel satisfaction
That you've done what I deserved
Even though I've been disserved

Poison me with your eyes
And I won't antagonize
Because I will be shamed
That your doing has been proclaimed

Poison me with your monstrosity
Even though this is atrocity
And I won't tell a soul
That you have me controlled
