Introduction

This is a poem I made. It's my personal and my own style. I call it the define style. How it works is basically I have a idea of what to write but I find words that describes the title (but don't say the title in the poem) and then under it put my own experience and feeling.

Copyright belongs to me

This is my style if you want to use it you need to credit me and put the link to your poem here so I can see it happy writing

Chapter 1

Breaking

Every day is hard

Hurting

You pushed me too far

Tears

Only I can say I cry .

Done

Trying not to break but instead I give up my fight

Why

All I can ask so I can understand why do you hurt me and pinch my nerves in the palm of your hands
