Introduction

This is about if he texts me somehow right now would it work out or would it just be given up on it explores the poem of how far?

Chapter 1

If you texted me today and said I love you
Would I say yes to you?
I feel as though it's not right

I can't give you what you need
I can't be there for you
It will be just like those distance relationships
Where you hang in while it ends

So if I say yes
Would you hurt me
Tomorrow?
Would you hurt me
Or would I hurt you?
