

When Skies Cry

from Maddy

online:

<https://www.allthetests.com/fan-fiction/poems/quiz38/160940125>

powered by www.allthetests.com

Introduction

So I haven't made a poem for this site in forever... I thought I'd publish one of the poems in my book on this site.. like old times.. please comment on anything I could have done better...

Also, this poem is a tribute to my younger and depressed self and everything I learned from the situation.

Chapter 1

When the skies would cry,
I was normally eaten up inside,
No one cared about me though.

The ones that said they did,
Were playing pretend,
I was like a doll they were trying to dress up.

When the skies would cry,
I was alone,
I was looking for you.

I was looking for my soulmate,
You were mine,
But was I yours?
I know I wasn't because every time I needed you,
You weren't there,
You didn't help.
I told myself you helped,
But those were all lies.

When Skies used to cry,
I would cry too,
Because I was missing a part of me that I thought was you.

But I moved on,
I'm worth so much more,
But you will forever hold that place.

When Skies would cry no one was to be found,
No one ever wanted to risk themselves for me and get their clothes wet.