Chapter 1

It was a wonderful day and Paris looked beautiful in the long-lasting sunlight, the sky was a dazzling blue, and not a cloud could be seen. However, Marinette was paying no attention to the blue sky and ferocious heat nor the fact that she could view this spectacular scene from the roof-tops of Paris as her alter ego Ladybug. All she could think about were the stinging words Chloe Bourgeois had shouted at her earlier that day in school. So far Marinette had been able to put these thoughts at the back of her head to focus on lessons but now that there was nothing to distract her and school was over, it was all she could think about. ?Calm down Marinette nobody can control what Chloe says except herself, besides it?s not as if you are her only target, and imagine what Chloe would think if she knew you were Ladybug.? Tikki?s words only cheered Marinette up slightly but she still returned the encouraging smile Tikki gave her. ?I know but I?m so angry Tikki and Chloe is just a stuck-up brat who cares about no one but herself!?! Giving up, Tikki sighed, there was no point in trying to calm Marinette down as it was more than likely going to make her even angrier, and then she would be akumatized! That would surely be the last thing anybody would want.

The Next Day

Marinette went to the school the next day only to go home angrier than she had ever been before, including the time Lila had got her expelled. Chloe had done something horrible even for her and Marinette was almost considering being home-schooled until Adrien flashed into her mind. If Adrien at school no way was home-schooling an option, but it could remain a possibility?

Alya and Nino were chatting just outside the school when they saw the Akuma, at first it seemed as though it was heading for Adrien and Nino shouted out in warning. Now everyone was aware of it. The Akuma disappeared around the corner where Marinette was standing, upset and angry. It was only Alya who heard the familiar sound of her best friend's voice speaking the two words that so many Parisians had spoken before her: "Yes, Hawkmoth."

She told everyone who could hear her run but Chloe was not running to safety she was running to the one place the villain would look for her first. Her Queen Bee signal. Alya got her phone out ready to film the villain fight (For Ladyblog reasons of course.) Cat Noir arrived on the scene and warned her to stay out of danger, but there was no sign of Ladybug. She had never been this late for a fight before, not ever. Had something happened to Paris's beloved heroine or was Ladybug? no Alya couldn't believe what she was thinking it was surely illogical, but if it was true, if there was any possibility of it being true, Cat Noir would definitely be taking on this villain alone. This was bad.

Introduction

Sorry, for such a long wait for the second part but I currently have 3 fanfics on the go I hope you like this as much as the first one.

By the way, it ends in a cliffhanger so make sure you check out the 3rd part soon!

Chapter 1

PART 2

It had been hours since Alya had given up filming and was sure that she was not the only one who knew the identity of Ladybug, but of course, this was not the worst of the problems at the time. For not only was Alya unable to help out as Ladybug was the one who handed out miraculous but Cat Noir was exhausted. You could easily tell. He wasn't even trying anymore. Then the idea struck her, as long as the Akuma wasn't in her earrings Cat Noir could break the object of which the vile creature inhabited and use his cataclysm to get rid of the Akuma. It was a full-proof plan and Cat Noir agreed as Alya told him this. It worked! Marinette was back to normal and Paris had yet again been saved.

BACK AT SCHOOL

Marinette stayed on the down-low for a few days but when she finally thought everything had blown over she was bombarded with questions, however the look on Adrien and Chloe's faces was unforgettable. Chloe looked apologetic and Adrien looked, actually, Marinette couldn't read his facial expressions but it annoyed her that he was just standing and staring at her, it was kind of creepy. When the bell went for the first lesson of the day everyone left and Marinette went to pick up her bag when suddenly someone tapped her on the shoulder, it was Adrien?

Introduction

I couldn't wait to write this part as it is so action-packed!

Chapter 1

As Marinette turned around, Adrien's face turned red. He clearly had something to tell her but he just couldn't get the words out, it was weird, they had kind of reversed roles. "I wanted t-to tell y-you that, that you make a purr-fect Ladybug" Adrien whispered to her and sighed as Marinette giggled, clearly oblivious to the massive hint. "Umm, do you want to hang out after school?" Adrien asked, aware of the obvious answer. "Is your father going to allow you, he doesn't normally," Marinette replied in a serious tone. "He doesn't have to know m'lady." Marinette giggled again but suddenly her face fell, "Did you just call me m'lady?"

"I sure did, buggaboo." Marinette suddenly understood why Adrien was using Cat Noirs' pet names for Ladybug. HE was Cat Noir. Marinette felt awkward, the boy she had rejected continuously was also the boy she had a huge crush on. Perhaps this was worth the sting after all...

Introduction

I wanted to make this part longer but I began to get writer's block so decided to stop.

Chapter 1

As Marinette turned around again to face Adrien she saw the unmistakable figure of cat noir occupying the space Adrien had been standing in moments before? They stood in silence for a moment until Marinette spotted Alya running towards her. "Come on Marinette, just because you're a superhero doesn't mean you can be late to class? you should hurry up to Adrien? Come On!"

Marinette turned to see Adrien had transformed back, and he had a look of relief on his face.

Marinette hurried to gather up her books and ran to class without looking back?

LATER THAT DAY

Ladybug was sat on a Paris rooftop waiting (and dreading) for Cat Noir to turn up for their patrol.

Suddenly a thump behind her informed Ladybug that someone had turned up "Finally, I was beginning to wor-" but as the ladybug turned around. She did not see cat noir behind her? it was none other than Hawkmoth!

Introduction

Are you excited? Because I know I am. This ends in a slight cliffhanger but all will be revealed in the next part...

Chapter 1

Ladybug

"Why are you here?" Ladybug questioned in a threatening tone.

"I just want to talk." Replied Hawkmoth

"Me? Talk? To you? Yeah right. Try and make me."

"Oh we will?" answered Mayura as she appeared behind Ladybug. The heroine reached for her yoyo but it wasn't there. "Looking for something?" Mayura asked, holding up the red and black yoyo. Are you kidding me? LB thought before recovering from her shock. "How did you... Ugh never mind. You better give it back!" she shouted "Why should I?" Mayura questioned. Suddenly LB's bug phone rang. It was cat noir. Mayura threw her yoyo as far away as she could before turning back to Ladybug "If you want it you better go and get it?" She was about to jump down from the rooftop when something, well someone, grabbed her wrist. "Oh Ladybug. Did you think we'd let you go? Now, as I said earlier, we just want to talk." Ladybug glared at hawkmoth for a moment before giving in, "fine, what is it?"

Chapter 2

Cat Noir

Cat Noir was sure he had the right patrol spot but Ladybug still hadn't turned up. I better call her. He grabbed his stick and called LB but she didn't pick up. Then he checked his GPS tracker and found out she was transformed. Cat noir decided to head towards where she was when suddenly the ladybug symbol started moving towards him way too quickly. What the? but before he could finish something small and round hit him on the head "ouch" he rubbed his head where he was hit then picked up the object? it was her yoyo. She must be in trouble. He didn't have to travel very far to find out why, he reached a small rooftop but quickly hid. What he saw worried him; Ladybug was cornered by Hawkmoth and Mayura. He heard LB say something in a defeated voice but he couldn't hear what. I better stay hidden. He thought.
