Introduction

This is basically a poem about an ended relationship:3 I also have some poems in the [not included tests] area, I will be very happy if you can check that out!:)

Chapter 1

Ended

When did you become addicted to wealth?
It was then I noticed you didn't care about yourself,
Before, what I saw in you,
Now I really doubt that it was true.
Tried to diss me when I wasn't looking,
Oh My God, why did I think you were joking?

Tell you what, tell you what, this relationship is ended.
Believe me not, believe me not, please don't tell me you're offended,
Cause I'll know it ain't the truth,
It already went out through the roof.
I let the cat out of the bag,
From all I know, you ain't got my back.

Don't be haughty,
Don't be naughty,
I'll just find someone else.
Don't need to bite your broken nails,
No need to beg me to stay.
The only way to keep you at bay,
Is to just run away.

Just cause got nothin' else to do,
That doesn't mean you have to be rude.
Because I'm not a fool,
You can't just make someone blue.

Before, what I saw in you,
Now I really doubt that it was true.
I let the cat out of the bag,
From all I know, you ain't got my back.
