Introduction

A little about my life, and some advice to go with it. You get to know a little about me and you can answer some of the "questions". I hope it's okay. I am 13 years old just to warn you.
Chapter 1

I am adopted

Growing up through life for me- was a little weird.

I was in an adoption center from when I was 1-4 years old. I had no biological siblings. My biological parents loved me but they did lots of drugs...

They wanted me to have a better life with good influences- I knew because of the letter from them I never forgot about.

I was too young to know where I was and what was going on but now I do. I love my new mom and dad, my sister, and my brother. My sister is their only biological child, but it always seemed like I wasn't adopted; doesn't feel like it anyway.

You may now about the stupid joke, when someone says "You're adopted!" I don't under why it's funny or upsetting though. Do you know how many kids DON'T have a family? It makes me happy to know that I have a supporting family. Even though not all adopted kids get that kind of family- that's upsetting...

It doesn't matter who you are or where you come from, because you are special and amazing.
Chapter 2

Some of the things I did in school

In elementary school, I won the spelling bee from 3-5 grade. I went a bit high but not enough. It was fun either way because I love reading and spelling. I won up to the whole school in 6th, then I took a break in 7th.

I legit begged for an environmental support club since we were allowed to have a club most of the people in school voted for. It was a theatre arts thing basically; for fellow makeup artists and mimes. But my idea got the second least votes. So "big" on that I guess.

I love science, and in 6th, I made this: A project describing some of the differences between acorns and walnuts and a project about identifying different grasses and look-alike animal species.

That was weird...

My advice for this is: try your hardest, and aim for who you want to be.
Chapter 3

A little with my family and life at home

My mom is usually busy doing office work, sometimes she's home, and sometimes at work. Now that COVID 19 is effecting us, she works at home unless there is an emergency. But, when she's not busy, she spends most of her time with my sister, but she sets some time for my brother and I. She doesn't favorite my sister; well maybe a little bit but some of the time they talk about personal things. (Don't ask how I know)

My dad is normally working night AND day shifts at his job. I don't really know what he does, but I know enough to where I can tell he gets down and dirty. When he is home, he works in the back yard or in the garage. Or he spends some time with me, my sister, and my brother.

My sister is 2 years older than me. She treats me and my brother like the best people existent. I've barely ever been into her room, which sometimes makes me suspicious. But either way I don't want anyone else but her as a sister.

My brother is 6 years younger than me, but pretty smart for his age. He loves to follow me and annoy me for the fun of it. We play and spend a lot of time with each other. It makes me happy and I love him.

My house is maroon and white brick. I live in a two-story house, but it may not be really big. At least it's spacious. My room is average size, with gray carpet and blue walls. Maybe this is a little about me.

You may not understand this, and that's fine. Just something about me.
Why don't you try your own short story? All it basically is, is a little from you. A little advice from you, and some information. You don't give out everything too personal, you probably shouldn't go that far.

You are:
What makes YOU happy:
What YOU think can make a difference in this world:
How YOU picture your life:
Some about your life:
YOUR advice:
What YOU have tried and accomplished:
This is some of it. I give you best luck.
You are amazing because you are, well you know- YOU.
Now it's your turn
Make your own story- well that's if you want to, anyway

You all are amazing.

A little more about my name on here I changed it from Hated to You. I'm using this name instead so I don't use somebody else's name for quizzes.

You can answer from the fourth chapter if you want to.
Good luck! Happy Early Thanksgiving and Merry early Christmas!
